TYPE 2 DIABETES DISTRESS ASSESSMENT SCALE: Combined Core and Sources of Distress (T2-DDAS COMBINED)

Living with diabetes can be tough. Listed below are many of the stresses and worries that people with diabetes often experience. These are issues that can often be tough to acknowledge and to talk about, but please be as open and honest as you can. Thinking back over the past month, please indicate how much each of the following items were a problem for you by marking the appropriate column.

For example, if an item was not a problem for you over the past month, place a mark in the first column: "Not a Problem" (1). If it was a very tough problem for you, place a mark in the last column: "A Very Serious Problem" (5).

	Not A Problem	A Little Problem	A Moderate Problem	A Serious Problem	A Very Serious Problem
	(1)	(2)	(3)	(4)	(5)

like.

Scoring THE T2-DDAS Combined

The Core Distress Level is a single numeric score, based on the average of the eight contributing items. This score reflects the degree of, intensity, or amount of core diabetes distress reported by the respondent, with higher scores indicating greater intensity.

To score, sum the scores across all eight items (1 to 5) and divide by 8: _____

What if all 8 items are not completed?

If only 7 items are completed, sum the scores of the items and divide by 7. If only 6 items are completed, sum the scores of the items and divide by 6.

NOTES:

A minimum of 6 completed items are required for an accurate CORE score. We view a total score based on fewer than 6 items to be unreliable and therefore not scorable.

If you administer both the CORE and SOURCE sections of the T2-DDAS, we suggest that you administer the CORE section first.

Scoring The Sources Of Distress

This scale assesses each of seven common Sources of diabetes distress for adults with type 2 diabetes. Each Source refers to a specific aspect of living with and managing diabetes that can lead or contribute to diabetes distress for a particular individual. The higher the score, the more impactful that Source is likely to be in contributing to diabetes distress for this individual.

Each Source should be scored and considered individually; summing across Sources into a single, overall score or combining scores across Sources in any way IS NOT RECOMMENDED. A review of each of the highest scored Sources will help to identify which of the different aspects of living with and managing diabetes may be having the biggest effects on the individual.

To score, sum the scores (1 to 5) across all of the items in that scale and divide by the number of contributing items as follows:

Distress About:

Hypoglycemia: sum items 11, 17, 27, then divide by 3.
Long-term Health: sum items 12, 18, 24, then divide by 3.
Healthcare Provider: sum items 13, 16, 28, then divide by 3.
Interpersonal Issues: sum items 10, 21, 29, then divide by 3.
Shame/Stigma: sum items 14, 20, 22, then divide by 3.
Healthcare Access: sum items 9, 23, 25, then divide by 3.
Management Demands: sum items 15, 19, 26, then divide by 3.

NOTES: All items included in a SOURCE scale must be completed for that particular SOURCE score to be reliable. If an item is missing, a score for that SOURCE should not be computed.
